

Commission on Rehabilitation Counselor Certification (CRCC) Post-Test
Ethical Considerations in Brain Injury Rehabilitation

National Association of State Head Injury Administrators (NASHIA)

Presenter: Maximillian H. Shmidheiser, MBE, PsyD, ABPP-CN

1. Which of the following statements is false in regard to positive ethics?
  - a. Positive ethics is simply doing the minimum that is necessary to avoid accusations of ethical misconduct.
  - b. A positive ethics approach emphasizes the importance of aspiring to the highest ethical principles of ethical practice.
  - c. Positive ethics represents a shift away from remedial ethics to a voluntary commitment to pursuing ethical ideals, motivated by deeply held moral principles.

2. With regard to positive ethics, what is the primary responsibility and obligation of all practitioners?
  - a. Take steps to promote exemplary behavior throughout professional activities & careers, not just when faced with ethical challenges.
  - b. Integrate personal ideals with professional lives.
  - c. Both a. and b.

3. Remedial ethics is the term used for the ethical approach that is in contrast to positive ethics.

True                  False

4. Ethics are not divorced from the rest of life, but are integral to professional and personal living –thinking feeling and acting are all involved in ethical practice.

True                  False

5. Clinicians should use multiple professional, ethical and legal resources, including ethics committees and colleagues in the decision-making process.

True                  False

Name: _____ Date: _____